

During a deployment

A support base exists for families of those deployed.

There are a number of organisations that can provide support to the families of NZ Defence Force members while they are deployed.

More information is available on the NZ Defence Force's website HomeBase. It's a great resource for the deployed community that provides information to support and empower you during a deployment

Visit the HomeBase website (<https://health.nzdf.mil.nz/support-providers/nzdf-community-wellbeing-support/homebase>)

