

You may need to upgrade your web browsers to access our website

The New Zealand Government is working to strengthen the security of its websites.

Some older internet browsers simply are not able to provide the security we need to be able to conduct business in a safe and secure way. Our website hosting provider is changing a configuration to ensure that our website—and the data hosted on it—stays secure.

If you're using one of the following browsers from 7 June onwards you may not be able to access our website.

- IE7 and below
